Another giant evil under which we labour, is the Orders. miserable inequality of representation, when contrasted with that of England, and when considered in proportion to our population. Such a withholding of justice offers a strong point for agitation; and such must be yielded at no very distant session, if union and energy lend their mighty force to the councils of next THURSDAY, at ! o'Clock, P. M. the Irish people. Be it our future task to assist, at least, in raising the constitutional cry in favour of COUNTIES OF WATERFORD AND TIPPERARY equality of representation with England. Connected with this grievous disproportion of representation, exists another evil, and one which comes home to the feelings of every man in the community, namely, the narrowness of the franchise; besides, the difficulties, piled upon difficulties which altogether debar the real exercise of a nominal right. Therefore, shall the extension of the franchise, and the simplifying of the registration, have our deepest attention.

It would be somewhat like an insult to the understanding of our readers, after having written the above, did we tell them how abhorrent to our very soul is that most flagrant injustice which compels the Irish Catholic to support, in this world's luxury and ostentation, the proud ministers of a Church, who deem it, or pretend to deem it, a point of principle as well as of conscientious duty, to denounce the sacred religion of the Catholic, by whom they live, as damnable and idolatrous!

Having thus put forward, fearlessly and without trick or quibble, this our declaration of political belief and of future action, we now may be pardoned if we allude to one arrangement, which we have adopted, not only for the advantage of the Journal itself, but also for the more complete education of the great mass, by furnishing them with a full knowledge of their rights, and an acquaintance with the sentiments of their best friends, as well as with the feelings and machinations of their enemies. This we intend accomplishing, by giving, in each post, the Spiner or | 8th and 9th. THE HIGH SHERIFF OF FERMANAGII.

(From the Moraing Chronicle.)
The Irish footman in the face, who discharged his unster when he saw sure and inevitable symptoms of being kicked down stairs, appears to have found a match in the late High

Our readers may remember a statement which appeared in the papers some time ago, that the return to ber Maiesty's writ, of members elected for that county, was sent in to the Hanaper Office in an orange and purple envelope, bearing upon the seal the well-known Tory device-" The Pope in the pillory in hell, pelted with priests by the Devil."

It seemed scarcely credible, that any person pretending to the character of gentleman could have deliberately committed an act tending directly to approximate the doer to the lowest class of Irishmen, ; but it is asserted, on the friendly authority of the Erne Parket, as quoted by the congenial journal, the Dublin Evening Mail, that a correspondence has been carried on for some weeks between the Irish Government and the Ex-High Sheriff for Fermanagh, and that the upshot has been the dismissal of the latter from his office. This certainly gives the affair an ugly and suspicious aspect, although the main fact is delicately shrouded, after the manner of the ingenious Murtagh Delang, thus:---

"Yesterday the High Sheriff received a final communication from the castle, relieving him, at his own request, from the further duties of his office—an alternative which he has chosen rather than go into any explanation for what was mainly a stretch of office in them to notice at all."

A general folding this of the hero's manule to soften the fall. ked the dignified functionary to prefer such a "request," than of which will appear in a future Advertisement. he is to be commended for having so readily complied with it. Could the same gentleman be further excited, by any means, to petition for a similar relaxation from his duties as a magistrate, it would, no doubt, procure him a great additional relief. | be S 'd without the least Reservation. The task of administering justice impartially between Pro-testant and Catholic must be to him an icksome one; it would, therefore, be a most considerate "stretch of office" to exonerate him of its toils and temptations; and we respectfully call Lord Campbell's prompt attention to the subject.
