BRITISH LABOUR M.P.s' VISIT

To Study Political, Industrial and Social Condition of Ireland

STATEMENTS BY DELEGATES

Belfast and Many Southern Centres Included in the Tour

The delegation appointed by the British Parliamentary Labour Party, to study on the spot the present political, industrial, and social conditions of Ireland, will commence their inquiry in Dublin to-day, and will afterwards visit Belfast, Cork, Tipperary, Limerick, Killarney, and Ennis.

One of the delegates remarked last night that it was hoped to interview representative leaders of Sinn Fein, and also to obtain the views of prominent Nationalists and Unionists "because," he added, "we are here on an independent investigation, and we want to get every point of view."

WANT TO GET EVERY POINT OF VIEW

The vanguard of the delegation arrived in the Sini Fein Party, Mr. Lindsay replied, Kingstown last evening by the London and C. of Dublin Steamship Company's steamer, Carriganmore, which at present takes the place of one of the C. of Dublin Steamship Company's small boats. These were Mr. Arthur Henderson, M.P.; Mr. W. Tyron Wilson, M.P.; Mr. J. Allen Parkinson, M.P.; and Mr. J. R. Clynes, M.P. They were accompanied by Mr. Lindsay Scott, who is acting as secretary to the delegation, and by Capt. W. W. Henderson, son of Mr. A. Henderson.

Moses W. Adamson, M.P., and Mr. J. R. Clynes, M.P., the other two members of the delegation, are expected to reach Kingstown this morning.

Arrivals of Motor Trains

Mr. Henderson and his co-delegates, who were not by several passengers on the landing stage, travelled immediately to Dublin by the boat train, and proceeded to the Shelbourne Hotel, which will be their headquarters during their stay in Dublin, and arrangements have been made with the accommodation at the City Hall to accommodate the delegation.

The following is the delegation's itinerary, as at present arranged:

To-day—Dublin. To-morrow (morning)—Leave for Thurlow, thence to Tipperary. Thursday (morning)—Proceed to Killarney. Friday (morning)—Proceed to Ennis. Saturday (morning)—Return to Dublin. Tuesday, 27th (morning)—Proceed to Belfast.

THE DELEGATION

Mr. Wm. Adamson is the Chairman of the British Labour Party, and is M.P. for West Lancashire. This is his first visit to Ireland in an official capacity.

Mr. Arthur Henderson, the Dublin Trades Councilor, who is Vice-Chairman of the British Parliamentary Labour Party, is ex-Minister of Food Control in England, and was one of the members of the British Party in the House of Commons. The opinions in England were at present held by him for so long a time that he has been known as the "Irish" member of the Nationalist Party in the House of Commons.

Mr. J. R. Clynes, M.P., for the Wigan Division of Lancashire, is the Secretary of the British Agricultural Labourers' Union, and makes his maiden attempt to explore conditions in Ireland.

Mr. W. R. Smith, M.P. for Wallasey, Liverpool, is an official of the British Agricultural Labourers' Union, and makes his maiden attempt to explore conditions in Ireland.

Mr. W. T. Wilson is the Chief Whip of the British Parliamentary Labour Party, and M.P. for the West Houghton Division of Lancashire.

Mr. Lindsay, who is acting as secretary of the delegation, is the Secretary of the British Parliamentary Labour Party in the House of Commons. He is also on a maiden trip to Ireland for any public purpose.

When asked if the delegation would meet whatever came on the way, might have produced a public opinion in Ireland, British Labour could not remain uninterested by the tremendous change in the representation in Parliament, which consisted of 25 Nationalists, 25 Unionists, and 76 others.

Mr. Arthur Henderson, M.P., for the Wigan Division of Lancashire, and one of the few remaining members of the Irish Free State, affiliated to the British Labour Party and Unions with headquarters in England or Scotland. For these and other reasons the Labour Party comes to Ireland, and it is anticipated that some of its members to come into direct contact with those capable of exciting popular opinion on the immediate situation. This would be done through a series of conferences with the leaders of the trade unions in Dublin, Belfast, Cork, Tipperary, Limerick, Killarney, and Ennis.

To Receive Deputations.

Mr. W. T. Wilson is the Chief Whip of the British Parliamentary Labour Party, and M.P. for the West Houghton Division of Lancashire.
